

Are you a homeschool, informal, or K-12 educator?
Do you want to learn how to add systems thinking into your traditional or non-traditional classroom?
If so, this workshop is for you!

Air Quality, Climate, and Forestry: Systems as a Theme for Teaching and Learning

Enjoy a morning tour of the Josephine Sculpture Park and an afternoon tour of the Capitol Education Center. Receive quality curriculum for integrating science, technology, engineering and math instruction for ages 10 - 18 during this experiential workshop for educators.

July 19, 2016 from 8 AM - 3:30 PM

Registration deadline: June 30

To register: See next page

Cost: $20, Lunch and two curriculum guides included

Where: Josephine Sculpture Park (AM)
<http://josephinesculpturepark.org/>

Capitol Education Center (PM)
<http://finance.ky.gov/initiatives/Pages/CapitolEducationCenter.aspx>

Questions? Call KEEC at 502-564-5937

Registration Form

Air Quality, Climate, and Forestry: Systems as a Theme for Teaching and Learning

Instructions

The registration deadline is June 30, 2016. To reserve your place in the workshop:

- Complete this page and send it to wesley.bullock@ky.gov, or mail it to the address below.
- Send a check for the $20 registration fee, made payable to the Kentucky Environmental Education Council, to:

Kentucky Environmental Education Council
500 Mero Street
Capital Plaza Tower, Room 1901
Frankfort, KY 40601

Name of Registrant: _____

Mailing Address: _____

City, State, and ZIP: _____

Phone Number (with area code): _____ Type of phone: _____

Email Address: _____

Emergency Contact Name: _____

Emergency Contact Phone Number (with area code): _____

Special Dietary Needs (lunch is included with registration): _____

What do you hope to gain from this workshop?

What age(s) do you teach?

